Learn about the research being conducted in the Accounting area!

Have you ever wondered, “What kind of research goes on at Sprott?”

This year the Research Seminar Series is introducing seminars where representatives from each of the nine teaching areas informally present and interactively engage with the audience over the kinds of research being conducted within each of the areas. Each teaching area will have as many or as few speakers as desired to represent their respective areas. The goal is for the audience to get a better idea as to the range of research topics and approaches being undertaken by our colleagues across Sprott.
