Course Description/Instructor's Statement

Carleton Calendar Description (Find at <https://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/courses/BUSI/>)

In our globalized world, effective communication is essential in our personal and professional lives. This course explores fundamental skills and principles for successful intercultural interactions, cross-cultural communication, and cultural competence. This course emphasizes diverse perspectives in a global context to enhance cultural intelligence.

Instructor's Description:

The ability to work, manage, and communicate across diverse settings is an essential skill in today's globalized world—one that will only grow more critical as globalization, technological advancement, travel, and immigration continue to connect people from different cultural backgrounds. Intercultural Communication refers to the processes through which individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds exchange information and construct meaning while navigating differing linguistic, behavioural, and social norms.

Understanding intercultural communication goes beyond simply learning how people from various cultures exchange information; it explores non-verbal communication, cultural norms, taboos, values, and the subtle dynamics that shape human interaction. Intercultural communication occurs in our daily interactions and at every level of business, from multinational corporations to small organizations. This course also examines how culture's influence on individuals has grown increasingly complex due to globalization, immigration, and cultural mixing, further underscoring the need to develop strong intercultural communication skills.

Through this course, students will gain insight into communication challenges and opportunities in international business, cultural exchanges, and travel. They will develop greater cultural self-awareness while learning to navigate the mutual exchange of ideas and cultural norms across different contexts and further develop their cultural intelligence in a business context.

Course Learning Objectives:

1. Develop an understanding of culture's influence on individuals and interactions
2. Understand the foundations of intercultural communication
3. Apply strategies of conflict resolution in a cultural context
4. Engage in strategic thinking in business
5. Enhance one's self-awareness and biases

Methods of Evaluation

The following provides a brief overview of the course deliverables. Further details will be communicated during our scheduled class as well as via Brightspace. Please do not hesitate to reach out following our initial course introduction with any additional questions you may have! 😊

Portfolio Project:

The final portfolio project is a flexible, practice-oriented assessment that allows students to demonstrate their learning through a variety of activities rooted in course concepts. Students will have the opportunity to choose the activities that best align with their interests and preferred learning style, accumulating up to 50 points. Each activity reflects an aspect of intercultural communication and will be followed by a structured reflection connecting your experience to course material. 40% of the portfolio project will be based on your final submission, and 10% will be based on their featured activity during our final class exhibition showcasing an element of every student's portfolio project. Students will submit two progress reports throughout the term to ensure they are track with their final submission. Further details will be shared in class and posted on Brightspace.

Culture Convos:

One of the best ways to become aware of your own cultural influences and experiences is to discuss it with someone new! For this exercise, you will be partnered up with multiple classmates to learn more about their intercultural experiences. You will be assessed based on your written reflection submitted at the end of class. This written reflection will be in response to questions provided by the instructor requiring you to integrate course concepts as you reflect on your conversation.

In Person Exam:

There will be one exam that takes place during class partway through the course that will assess your understanding of the material we have covered in class as well as the assigned readings. This exam is designed to ensure that you are understanding and are able to apply the concepts learned throughout the course effectively. More details regarding the exam will be provided during class and communicated via Brightspace.

Late Assignments:

To ensure fairness for all students, penalties will be applied to late assignments: Failure to submit an assignment on time will result in an initial penalty of five (5) percentage points, followed by an additional (2) percentage points per day thereafter. For example, an assignment that would normally merit a grade of 80% would receive a grade of 75% if submitted after the deadline on the due date, 73% if submitted the following day, and so on. Requests for extension will be considered in cases of illness, family emergency, or other exceptional circumstances.

Deferred In-Class Quizzes/Tests or Midterms:

In the event that you are unable to write a midterm, test, or other scheduled assessments due to extenuating circumstances (such as a death in the family, illness, etc.), you must provide appropriate supporting documentation to your professor. Upon review, a deferred test may be offered. Please note that students who do not provide valid documentation or fail to offer a reasonable explanation for missing an assessment will receive a grade of 0% for that test.

The midterm deferral will be held on Monday, March 2 at 7:15am.

Deferred final exams:

If you wish to defer a Formal Final Exam, you – the student – must reach out to the registrar's office with the proper documentation prior to the deadline (please refer to <https://carleton.ca/registrar/deferral/> for dates). Once the request has been put through, your instructor will be notified for their approval.

Use of Generative Artificial Intelligence

This is a human-centered course. In this course, evaluation focuses on what you can do without AI assistance. While you are welcome to use AI tools to explore ideas, study, or clarify concepts, all submitted work must represent your independent thinking and original effort. Use AI for learning, not for producing graded submissions. Your understanding and reasoning—not AI output—will form the basis of assessment. Using AI for graded submissions constitutes and academic integrity violation.

Preparation and Participation:

Class attendance, preparation, and participation are integral components of your grade. This includes arriving on time, having read all assigned materials, completing required assignments, and being fully prepared to engage in class activities and discussions. This course is designed to be driven by inquiry, debate, and exploration—an approach that broadens perspectives and deepens learning.

Regular attendance is both important and required. Missing more than two classes without a certified reason (such as a medical certificate) will result in failure of the course.
