Preparation and Participation:

Assignments in the textbook are designed to help students think about the issues and will be the subject of discussion at the tutorials. There will be 4 short assignments, worth up to 5 marks each, for a total of 20 marks, and your answers will be the subject of discussion at the following tutorial. Answers are to be recorded in the textbook in the space provided and will be digitally accessible to TAs for grading.

Students will be assigned to one of 10 tutorial groups each comprised of about 30 students. There will be 4 tutorials for each group, and each tutorial will be worth 2.5 participation marks for a maximum of 10 marks. Participation in a tutorial may also merit an increase in a relevant assignment grade but will not cause a student to lose a mark achieved in an assignment.

If you miss a tutorial, there will be an opportunity to make up for the lost participation marks by assuming role in some of the in-lecture exercises that will be held (for example, a mock trial, mock meeting of a board of directors and a mock contract negotiation)

The midterm and the final examination will be exclusively multiple choice. Practice questions will be provided during the term and will be discussed in the tutorials. They will comprise 60 and 80 questions respectively and will be in person. The midterms will be held in the lecture room. Scantrons will be used so students must bring a pencil to the examinations.

Preparation for Midterm and Final Examinations:

Students should study the textbook to prepare for examinations but focus on the material and issues contained in the slides used during lectures. They should also attempt to answer the practice questions to be assigned from time to time for discussion in the tutorials.

Class Questions by Raising Hand or Texting:

Class questions are encouraged and may be asked directly by raising a hand to call attention to oneself or texted to me during the “Vexed? Why Not Text?” designated interludes during the lecture. During specified breaks, I feature segments I call “Vexed? Why not Text?” I will, during these breaks, invite students to text me questions or comments that I will read out loud and address. I may not be able to answer all texts in class if there are too many, but I will answer them in due course.

Late Assignments:

Late textbook assignments will not be accepted and will be graded 0/5.

Midterm and Final Exam

The midterm is mandatory and missing it will only be permitted in case of illness, or serious emergencies. Travel plans and attending a wedding in distant locations are not valid reasons for missing the midterm examination.

e-Proctoring

If e-Proctoring is implemented for digital exams, please note that tests and examinations in this course will use a mandatory remote proctoring service provided by Scheduling and Examination Services. You can find more information at <https://carleton.ca/ses/e-proctoring/> .

Students are responsible for ensuring that the application is working properly on your computer during the exam. Failure to ensure proper functioning of CoMaS will constitute a violation of the exam rules and may be grounds for an allegation that you have violated the Academic Integrity Policy.

The minimum computing requirements for this service are as follows:

Hardware: Desktop, or Laptop

OS: Windows 10 or higher, Mac OS 10.14 or higher

Internet Browser: Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Apple Safari, or Microsoft Edge

Internet Connection (High-Speed Internet Connection Recommended)

Webcam (HD resolution recommended)

Note: Tablets, Chromebooks, Smartphones and Windows-based tablets are not supported at this time.

Deferred In-Class Tests:

In the event that you are unable to write a midterm, test, or other scheduled assessments due to extenuating circumstances (such as a death in the family, illness, etc.), you must provide appropriate supporting documentation to your professor. Upon review, a deferred test may be offered. Please note that students who do not provide valid documentation or fail to offer a reasonable explanation for missing an assessment will receive a grade of 0% for that test.

The deferral test will be held on Monday, November 16, 2026, at 7:15am.

Deferred final exams:

If you wish to defer a Formal Final Exam, you – the student – must reach out to the registrar's office with the proper documentation prior to the deadline (please refer to <https://carleton.ca/registrar/deferral/> for dates). Once the request has been put through, your instructor will be notified for their approval.

Use of Generative Artificial Intelligence

This is an AI-forward course. Students are expected to use generative-AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT, Claude, Copilot) as thought partners and assistants to enhance the quality of their work. Assignments will be graded assuming students had full access to AI support. Use these tools responsibly. That is, verify outputs, apply your own judgment, and cite AI use when relevant. The goal is not to outwit AI but to elevate your learning through it. You can access resources related to citing Generative AI on the MacOdrum Library website. Additional resources are also available on Carleton's Artificial Intelligence Hub. Contribution to Learning Goals of the Program (BCom, BIB):

The purpose of this section is to explicitly address the connection between individual courses and program-level learning goals. We ask that you consider whether and how each of the six program-level learning goals is addressed in your course. For each learning goal, choose one of the following options.

Not Covered Learning goal is not addressed in the course or addressed only minimally.

Introduced Course introduces content related to the learning goal but does not focus on it OR activities included in the course serve to cultivate this skill incidentally.

Taught but not Assessed Course contributes explicitly and meaningfully to student achievement of the learning goal but is not the point where competency is formally assessed.

Taught and Assessed Select this option if the course has been designated by the UG CRC as the point where achievement of the learning goal will be assessed.

They provide you with opportunities to develop and enhance interpersonal, communication, leadership, followership, and other group skills. Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Violations of academic integrity – presenting another's ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the degree and will not be tolerated.

Process: If an alleged violation occurs, all relevant documentation will be forwarded to the Dean. If the allegation proves true, the penalties may include; a grade of Failure on the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. For a first offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally be a zero on the submitted work and at least a minimum full grade reduction of the final course grade. For a second offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally lead to a suspension from studies.

Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy, which is available, along with resources for compliance at: <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>.
