BUSI 2400 [0.5 credit]

Foundations of Information Systems

Management issues associated with information systems in organizations. Definition, description, fundamental technologies impacts and development of information systems, and associated ethical issues.

Course Description:

This course will help students understand the critical role that information systems play in the innovation and productivity of every Canadian industry. The Sprott School of Business recognizes the growing innovation gaps and the challenge of developing skills in our students for a fast-evolving and changing business environment where information and communication technologies (ICTs) play a significant role in the transformation. The skills needed are rooted in studies of both information technology and business. This course is the door to these topics for many students.

Organizations are becoming more virtual and people will be working with clients and colleagues, they may never meet face to face their skills using ICTs will determine their success in the workplace. Many jobs that are here today will be eliminated, and new jobs will take their place. Change will be driven by people familiar with both business knowledge and technology skills.

Learning Outcomes:

The main goal of this course is that students experience the Management of Information Systems. To achieve the goal, students are expected to:

- Understand what information systems are and the way they are used in organizations
- Explain the role information systems play in managerial decision-making
- Understand the impact ICTs have on Productivity, Innovation and Strategy
- Explain how IS are used for competitive advantage, and
- Assess the challenges associated with the management of information systems

Software

This course requires Microsoft Office 2019 (Word, Excel, and Access). Please note, Mac users can get this software by accessing Cu Desktop (<https://cudesktop.carleton.ca/>) – through a Client/Server application available to students in this course. Instruction on getting the client software and installing it in your own devices are available in the course CU Learn site. This also applies to students having a different version of Microsoft Office.

Course Requirements & Methods of Evaluation:

Grading

Your final grade will be composed of the following:

- ✓ Assignments 30%
 - Excel (15%) due date by Monday February 8, 2021, by 11:00 PM
 - Access (15%) due date by Monday March 29, 2021, by 11:00 PM
- ✓ Group Project 10%
 - Presentation due date by Monday April 5, 2021, by 11 PM
- ✓ 10 Weekly Quizzes (10% - each quiz is 1%)
- ✓ Take home Midterm Examination (20%) (Due March 5, 2021, by 11:00 AM)

- ✓ Take home Final Examination (30%) (Due April 27, 2021 by 11:00 PM)

There is a CU Learn site for this course. All expected deliverables for this course are expected to be submitted through the site. You will find your feedback there as well. It is important that you visit the site regularly to stay on top of the course's expectations. When communicating with the TA or the instructor, please use the mail service associated with the course or include in your message the course number if using a different mail service.

Excel & Access Assignments

These are INDIVIDUAL assignments!

Group Presentation

You will be put into Groups of up to 5 members in this course. In CU Learn there will be a list of topics on new trends in MIS. Each group will submit a recorded presentation on the assigned topic by the specified due date. Please note that all members need to present to receive full marks. There is a Peer Evaluation component for this assignment to determine individual grades.

Weekly Quizzes

Starting in week 02 there will be a quiz covering material from the textbook's chapters assigned for that week. These quizzes have deadlines you need to write the quiz before that deadline.

Midterm and Final Exams

Both are take-home exams.

The midterm will be available March 1-5, 2021 – covering material from Sessions 1 - 6
The final exam will be released on April 16, 2021 – covering material from the entire course.

VIDEOS

During the asynchronous part of each session, students are expected to follow hands-on exercises in either Excel or Access. These hands-on exercises are designed to provide essential skills that are expected for students in future semesters. The files needed to follow those hands-on exercises are available in CU Learn.

This is important experiential learning that will help with the assignments and material cover in the midterm and final examinations. Therefore, it is recommended that students spent time each session working on them.

Group work

The Sprott School of Business encourages group assignments in the school for several reasons. They provide you with opportunities to develop and enhance interpersonal, communication, leadership, follower-ship and other group skills. Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar (p 34), the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Violations of academic integrity – presenting another's ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the degree and will not be tolerated. Penalties may include; a grade of Failure on the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy which is available, along with resources for compliance at: <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>.

Sprott Student Services

The Sprott student services office, located in 710 Dunton Tower, offers academic advising, study skills advising, and overall academic success support.
