Enterprise Architecture

Instructor: Dr. Ajit Thomas
Office: N/A
Office Hours: By appointment
Email: ajit.thomas@carleton.ca
Phone Number: 613-407-6520 (mobile)

Class meets: Tuesday 18:05 – 20:55, Tory Building Room 202 (starts Sept 11)

Pre-requisites: BUSI2400 and BUSI3103 (with a grade of C- or higher).

Course Description:

Exploration of the significance of cross-functional business processes in the context of e-business transformation. Includes process analysis and modeling techniques. Also considers the application of enterprise resource planning systems, workflow technologies, intranets, and extranets to facilitate process flows inside and outside the organization.

Objectives:

Enterprise Architecture (EA) is a coherent whole of principles, methods, and models that are used in the design and realisation of an enterprise's organizational structure, business processes, information systems, and infrastructure. (Lankhorst et al. (2013), Enterprise Architecture at Work, 3rd Edition, pg. 3)

This course is a pragmatic introduction to EA – exploring the design, selection, implementation and management of IT solutions for organizations. The focus is on understanding the applications and infrastructure and their alignment with organization's goals. In particular, emphasis is placed on understanding and modeling the organization's business goals and EA requirements so that they can be used to evaluate candidate realizations.

The learning objectives for this course are:

1. To understand the purpose and nature of enterprise architecture and how it can be applied in an organization.
2. To learn a modelling language for enterprise modelling, ArchiMate.
3. To apply the modelling language to build models which aid in understanding the various facets of enterprise architecture.

4. To examine the various viewpoints of stakeholders in the organization and show these views as aspects of our enterprise model.

Throughout the semester students will be able to apply what they have learnt through individual and group assignments, class discussions of articles and case studies, as well as interactions with guest speakers presenting problems and solutions in enterprise architecture for their businesses.

This is a seminar style course and you are expected to have covered the reading list before class. On average, each class will require 3 to 4 hours of preparation in addition to work on assignments and the group project.

Reading(s)/Textbook(s):

There is no official textbook for the course. The content covered in each class is drawn from material on class reading list and case studies. For each class, reading lists will be posted on CuLearn in a timely fashion. The reference texts, available online through Carleton Library, are

- 1) Enterprise architecture at work: modelling, communication and analysis by Lankhorst, Marc Heidelberg; New York : Springer, c2013
- 2) Enterprise Architecture: creating value by informed governance by Martin Op't Land et al., Berlin, Springer, C2009, and
- 3) Enterprise architecture patterns: practical solutions for recurring IT-architecture problems by Perroud, Thierry ; Inversini, Reto Berlin ; New York : Springer, c2013

Course Requirements & Methods of Evaluation:

The evaluation in this course is based on 4 in-class quizzes (20%), three assignments (30%), one group project with in-class presentation (25%) and a final examination (25%). Project topics will be discussed early in the course and project presentations are scheduled for the last two weeks of classes.

Satisfactory In-term Performance

To receive a passing grade in this class, students must complete all deliverables and receive a minimum average of 50% across all in-term course work.

Group work

The Spratt School of Business encourages group assignments in the school for several reasons. They provide you with opportunities to develop and enhance interpersonal, communication, leadership, follower-ship and other group skills. Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar (p 34), the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

A+ = 90-100	B+ = 77-79	C+ = 67-69	D+ = 57-59
A = 85-89	B = 73-76	C = 63-66	D = 53-56
A - = 80-84	B - = 70-72	C - = 60-62	D - = 50-52
F = Below 50
