UNIVERSITY CALENDAR COURSE DESCRIPTION

Theories linking environmental factors and business strategy as a basis for study of some major factors and institutions shaping international business strategy. International trade patterns, regionalization, shifts in international finance, research and development and transnational data flows.

PREREQUISITE

Third-year standing, and BUSI 2101 or BUSI 2702 with a grade of C or higher and ECON 1000 with a grade of C- or higher.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

International business does not occur in a vacuum. It happens and, is indeed, constituted and embedded in specific contexts: spatial and temporal; material and non-material; social and natural; internal and external to the key actors; and, at various levels including national and international, domestic and foreign. This course will primarily focus on understanding these environmental aspects of international trade and investment and their managerial implications. With the aid of practical examples and key theories linking environmental factors with business organizational strategies, structures, processes, identities, and performance, course participants will critically examine the main elements of the environment of international business (including its characteristics/dimensions, dynamics, and interrelationships with key actors) and its main effects on and implications for international business strategy as well as its influence on international trade patterns, regionalization, shifts in international finance, research and development and transnational data flows.

Indeed, the overarching aim of this course is to provide the student with a broad and deep understanding of the environment of international business and the opportunities and challenges it presents to firms operating in an international context in which the current phenomena of globalization and regionalism (and their associated impacts upon business) have to be contended with, examined, understood and managed.

Specifically, the course aims to provide the student with relevant theoretical insights and practical skills (i.e., a basic “toolkit” of necessary theories, conceptual approaches, analytical/practical techniques, empirical evidence, etc.) through a series of lectures, individual case study assignment, and participation in a collaborative group project that will enable the student to identify, analyze and critically assess the environment of international business -- all aimed at equipping the student to better understand the dynamic and complex nature of the milieu in which international business occurs as well as discern its patterns, resourcefulness and dynamics, and its relationship with business firms. Moreover, it is hoped that the theoretical, individual-and group-based research and practical skills/knowledge acquired in this course will help to prepare the student for more advanced study and/or for a career in international business.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to:

- (a) Analyze, understand and discuss the various interacting facets of the environment of international business (i.e., firm, industry/market, social, economic, cultural, political, technological contexts, etc.) and their influences on international business.
- (b) Appreciate and understand the role(s) of the various actors (governments, multilateral institutions, NGOs/CSOs, etc.) in shaping the strategies, structures, practices, and performance of a variety of business firms.
- (c) Discern and evaluate the role/significance of regional blocs on international business.
- (d) Apply the knowledge and understanding of the international business environment to current topical issues/cases; which, in turn, may help in the formulation of better-informed business policy decisions at the student’s (prospective) workplace.
- (e) Understand how theories, concepts and principles learned in this and in other courses can be usefully applied as a framework for analyzing the international business environment and its relationship with business firms.
- (f) Effectively apply the various techniques employed in the analysis of international business environment.
- (g) Conduct individual and group oriented research in international business including the preparation and presentation of research reports.

COURSE STRUCTURE AND DELIVERY

Meeting on scheduled days/dates in three-hour weekly sessions, this course will be structured on a lecture format and around five (5) broad activities:

(a) Student Engagement

Students will each week critically examine and discuss the assigned readings and issues. In fact, each session will begin by engaging students in a discussion of the key readings and a recap of the previous session's material. All course participants will be expected to take an active role in discussions. As such, each participant will be expected to have read all the required readings and be prepared to discuss the assigned readings and issues raised in the readings and class discussion. And, most importantly, class participation/engagement is predicated on the premise that class attendance for each and every student is mandatory throughout the semester.

(b) Individual Case Study Analysis

Each student will hand in a written analysis on one chapter-based case study from the textbook on a chosen/assigned date. A random assignment of case studies will take place on Sessions 1 and 2 of the semester; and individual written reports (in both hard and soft copy versions) will be due during the respective session a student is assigned. Guidelines on case analysis and a schedule of individual case allotments will be posted on cuLearn.

(c) Mid-term Test (in-class).

Students will be required to sit an in-class mid-term test on the scheduled date (Session 7: October 19th, 2016).

(d) Final Exam

Students will be required to sit a written formal final examination as scheduled by the university.

(e) Term Group Project: Comparative Country Analysis

Course participants will be required to take part in a group-based project. This assignment, to be undertaken in four phases/stages, will entail an in-depth analysis of two prospective countries (list to be provided) that a Canadian (or North American) company is contemplating to enter, expand/grow its operations or to exit. The detailed requirements of this project – specified in a set of guidelines and marking rubrics -- are provided separately on cuLearn.

TEXT BOOK AND OTHER RESOURCES

The following textbook is required for this course: Morrison, J. (2011) The Global Business Environment; Meeting the Challenges, 3rd ed., New York, Palgrave Macmillan.

In addition to the textbook, key/required readings are assigned from other sources (e.g., periodicals, etc.) as deemed appropriate (see detailed schedule on the long version of the course outline posted on cuLearn for full titles). Required course readings will also be accessible via Ares (library reserve facility). Moreover, throughout the semester/course students will be encouraged to read the current business press with a keen eye on thought provoking topics pertaining to the international business environment. Supplementary readings will be posted separately on cuLearn.

Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

Requests for Academic Accommodations

For Students with Disabilities:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are appropriate and can be made. The deadlines for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodations for December exams is November 11, 2016.

For Religious Obligations:

Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligation should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory event.

Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student.

Students and instructors can confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice by referring to the Equity Services website (<http://carleton.ca/equity/accommodation/religious-observances/>) for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies. If there are any questions on the part of the student or instructor, they can be directed to an Equity Services Advisor in the Equity Services Department for assistance.

For Pregnancy:

Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Violations of academic integrity – presenting another's ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the degree and will not be tolerated. Penalties may include; a grade of Failure in the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy which is available, along with resources for compliance at:
