COURSE DESCRIPTION

An introduction to the principles and practices of international business. Topics include the impact of culture and the political, economic, and legal systems on global strategy, international institutions, theories of cross-border trade, and the characteristics and effects of regional trade blocs.

COURSE OBJECTIVES/LEARNING OUTCOMES

As an introduction to the broad field of international business this course will particularly focus on the principles and practices of international business. A wide range of international business topics will be covered including: theories of international trade and investment, characteristics of international business environments and the impacts of culture and the political, economic, ethical and legal systems on global corporate strategy and operations as well as the multifaceted influences of international institutions, and the characteristics and effects of regional trade blocs.

Specifically, the aims of this course are four-fold:

- (a) First, the course will provide the student with a broad and systematic overview of international business field by introducing the student to basic theoretical, conceptual, empirical and methodological traditions that underpin the context, operation and flow of international business. This discussion includes the conduct of international trade, the institutions and agreements that provide structure for global commerce and the organizations, both large and small, which facilitate international business. This material is meant to provide an integrated framework that allows the student to understand various aspects of international business not as individual facts but as parts of a systematic whole. This provides a basis for more advanced courses that address specific aspects of international business and international management.
- (b) The second objective of the course is to heighten students' awareness of current issues in the field and how they are related to the theories and practices on international business. Awareness by international business managers of current issues is crucial because every country has to address concerns with international trade and foreign investment. While many of these issues persist over time, their importance varies in unpredictable ways with profound implications for management. As such, international business students (i.e., prospective managers) require an understanding not only of basic principles but of how global forces, events and trends impact on countries, businesses and individuals on a daily basis. Discussion in class, informal quizzes and country analyses will highlight these issues.
- (c) The third objective of the course is to enhance the student's individual and group oriented learning tools and skills, including research, analytical, critical thinking and team work skills necessary to comprehend, evaluate, critique, and present material in the international business field.

- (d) The fourth aim of the course is to refine students' communication skills. Success in university and in the student's later career will depend largely on their ability to communicate ideas clearly and convincingly. Facility in communication goes beyond being able to read and write clearly. The capacity to reason systematically, to analyze complex issues and to evaluate and integrate information from multiple sources is the basis for effective communication. As part of the course students will write two papers of varying length which will be evaluated on how well they are crafted as well as on their content. Each paper will be critiqued with information provided on how they can be improved. Students will also participate in an oral presentation of their term project.

COURSE STRUCTURE AND DELIVERY

Meeting on scheduled days/dates in 2 one-hour and a half lecture sessions per week and a weekly one-hour tutorial this course will be structured on a lecture format and tutorials around five (5) broad activities:

(a) Class Engagement

Students are expected to be actively engaged in all lecture and tutorial sessions. Students will in each tutorial session critically examine and discuss the assigned readings and issues. In fact, each tutorial session will begin by engaging students in a discussion of the key readings and a recap of the previous session's material. All participants will be expected to take an active role in discussions. As such, each participant will be expected to have read all the required readings and be prepared to discuss the assigned readings and issues raised in the readings and class discussion. And, most importantly, class participation is predicated on the premise that class attendance for each and every student in all sessions is mandatory throughout the semester.

(b) Individual Assignment

Each student will hand in a written analysis on one chapter-based assignment (case study, management focus or country focus) from the textbook as randomly assigned on Sessions 1 and 2 of the semester. Individual written reports (in both hard and soft copy versions) will be due during the respective session a student is assigned. Assignment selections will close on Week Four of the semester. Assignment guidelines and a schedule of individual case allotments will be posted on cuLearn.

(c) Mid-term Test (in-class).

Students will be required to sit an in-class mid-term test on a scheduled date (Session 8: October 23rd, 2015; there will be no tutorial class on this date).

(d) Final Exam

Students will be required to sit a written formal final examination as scheduled by the university.

(e) Term Group Project:

Course participants will be required to take part in a group-based project. This assignment, to be undertaken in four phases/stages, will entail an in-depth assessment of a multi-national corporation/enterprise (MNC/MNE) to determine its strengths and weaknesses in the context of the global economy. The detailed requirements of this project – specified in a set of guidelines and marking rubrics -- are provided separately on cuLearn.

TEXT BOOK AND OTHER RESOURCES:

The following textbook and course companion are required for this course:

- (1) Hill, Charles W. and Thomas McKaig (2015) Global Business Today, 4th Canadian edition, McGraw-Hill Ryerson.
- (2) Suder, Gabriele (2009) International Business, Thousand Oaks, CA, SAGE Publications Inc.

In addition to the textbook and the course companion, key/required readings are assigned from other sources (e.g., periodicals, etc.) as deemed appropriate. Moreover, throughout the semester/course students will be encouraged to read the current business press with a keen eye on thought provoking topics on international business. Supplementary readings will be posted separately on cuLearn.

They provide you with opportunities to develop and enhance interpersonal, communication, leadership, follower-ship and other group skills. Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar (p 34), the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

A+ = 90-100	B+ = 77-79	C+ = 67-69	D+ = 57-59

Requests for Academic Accommodations

For Students with Disabilities:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. The deadlines for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for final exams for the December 2015 exam period is November 6, 2015 and for the April 2016 exam period is March 6, 2016.

For Religious Obligations:

Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligation should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory event.

Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student.

Students or instructors who have questions or want to confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice may refer to the Equity Services website for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies, or may contact an Equity Services Advisor in the Equity Services Department for assistance.

For Pregnancy:

Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Violations of academic integrity – presenting another’s ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the degree and will not be tolerated. Penalties may include; a grade of Failure in the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy which is available, along with resources for compliance at: <http://www2.carleton.ca/sasc/advisingcentre/academic-integrity/>.
