Course Description

This course introduces Federal income tax laws, regulations, and their impact on an individual's financial and business decisions. Both the potential issues for individuals and planning associated with the Income Tax Act are discussed. Overall, the end goal is the efficient and effective computation of taxable income and taxes payable for an individual in Canada.

Drop Course Policy

The deadline for academic withdrawal follows the dates prescribed by Carleton University: https://calendar.carleton.ca/academicyear/

Course Objectives

Accountants cannot make intelligent business decisions without first considering the tax implications of the choices. An understanding of Canadian taxation is therefore necessary to make those decisions.

BUSI 3005 is the first of two introductory courses (with BUSI 4005) in income tax here at Sprott that, when taken together, are designed to achieve the following objectives:

- 1) To explain the theoretical concepts behind the specific provisions of the law,
- 2) To apply the law in practical problems and case settings,
- 3) To interpret the law, considering the specific wording of the provisions, judicial decisions and the Canada Revenue Agency's (CRA) position, and
- 4) To introduce basic tax planning concepts through case application.

This course is an introduction to tax principles and practice. The focus of BUSI 3005 – Taxation I is on fundamental principles and personal income tax.

Method of Instruction

For the fall of 2024, this course will be delivered following the outline below:

This is a flipped classroom. This means that you will be watching pre-recorded videos on the course material (10-minute lectures) on your own. We will meet once a week to work through problems together in class based on the previous week's materials. We will also use our time together to go over any concepts that, perhaps, need a bit more clarification.

Here is how your weeks should look for the fall term:

Section A: Wednesdays – Mondays: Study!

Section B: Tuesdays – Sundays: Study!

- Students are to use the plan laid out in the previous week's class to work through the videos and problems on their own.
- I will post a "Weekly Memo" each week to fully lay out what is expected and what order the work should be done in.
- I cannot stress this enough, keeping up on readings and the material is crucial in this course. Each week builds on the previous weeks' content, so if you fall behind, you will continue to do so and find yourself in trouble by the midterm. Keep up. Do the work. You will be fine.
- Any questions you have, please post to Brightspace in the discussion board, bring them to class or send me an email.

Sundays: Quiz time

• There will be a weekly quiz in this course, held online using Brightspace, reviewing the previous week's material. It will be due by Sunday at midnight each week.

Mondays/Tuesdays: Problems, problems, problems

- 90-minute(ish) session, starting at 11:35am Tuesdays (Section A) and Mondays (Section B).
- During this session I will go over several problems and answer any questions students have on the materials from the week.
- If you have done the work during the week, that is watched all the videos, completed all the problems etc., this session should be a review/study session. If you keep up, you will surely get more out of this session then simply attending and copying down answers.

Course Videos – The "lectures"

- A lot of thought has been put into how to deliver this course. This course includes videos for all the material in roughly 10-minute segments. Students in the past have agreed that it made it much easier to digest the material this way, rather than sitting through a 180-minute lecture each week. We will then spend our valuable time together working through problems and applying what you have learned. A far better use of your time.
- Students are responsible for watching the videos, digesting the content, and contacting me if there is anything they do not understand. Do NOT fall into the trap of thinking because you watched the video you understand the material and are "done". We can all tune out, have distractions, and simply watch a video without really watching it.
- During the lecture videos, there are examples to work through on your own. I cannot stress enough how important it is for you to take the time to try and solve these questions and examples on your own. Try. Try without looking at the solution.
 That is the only way you are going to learn.

Students are responsible for the entire content of each chapter of the textbook assigned, as well as additional topics discussed in class, except for those specifically excluded by the instructor.

Class sessions entail a mixture of lecture, problem solving, case study, group work, and discussion. The content of any lecture presumes and expects you have carefully studied the assigned reading. Lectures emphasize the major topics and readings, yet you are responsible for all assigned materials. It requires active learning, which means students must take responsibility for the learning that takes place. You must be prepared for each class and practice the learned material after class. You are encouraged to ask questions and stimulate discussion on topics you have difficulty understanding.

Grading Scheme

Weekly Quizzes	10%
Individual Case Study	10%
Group Assignments (4)	20%
Midterm – 120 minutes (Friday, November 1st 6:00pm)	20%
Final Exam – 3 hours (during formal final exam period)	40%
	100%

Individual Case - Preparation of tax return - 10% of total grade

You will receive a case scenario containing the tax information of a taxpayer. Based on this information, you will prepare the client's tax return and submit a draft copy of the return in the Dropbox available on Brightspace by December 6th at 11:59 PM (the last day of the fall term). An instructional video will be available to help you navigate the software

This individual assignment applies concepts learned in the semester to prepare a personal tax return, including determining taxable income and calculating tax payable.

Weekly Quizzes – 10% of total grade

Quizzes will be posted each week in Brightspace under their own folder. There will be one per week and, if you have done the readings and watched the videos, you will find them very easy. There are 11 in total, I will count the top 9 grades, meaning you can throw out your two lowest marks. So, if you miss a week, don't email me, and ask me to open the quiz for you again. You get to miss 2 quizzes. Plan accordingly if you know you will be out of town etc. and miss one.

Worksheets/Quizzes will be posted Wednesday mornings at 7:00 am EST and will close by 11:59 pm EST of the Sunday and will follow the schedule below:

Quiz	Chapters	Worksheet/Quiz Due
1	Chapter 1	September 15 ^h @ 11:59pm

10	Chapter 8	November 24 th @ 11:59pm
11	Chapter 9	December 1 st @ 11:59pm

NOTE – Classes begin on September 4th, and you are expected to start this course at that point. Your first quiz is due Sunday, September 15th, meaning you need to get going right away. Get your textbooks and get started.

Also – note that for Quiz 6, the due date is not a Sunday but rather the Friday before our Fall Break.

Group Assignments – 4 in total – 20% of total grade

The assignments will be due on the following dates by 11:59pm:

Assignment #	Chapter Coverage	Due Date
1	1, 2, 14	September 24 th
2	3, 4	October 15 th
3	5 & 6	November 12 th
4	7, 8, 9	December 3 rd

Note – Chapter Coverage may change based on how quickly we are moving through the course material. However, the due dates will stay firm.

The assignments are to be done in groups of 2-3 students. Make-up assignments are not provided.

Once you have your group members decided, you can email me with your group listing. 2-3 people maximum. If you want to be in a group but do not have a group, please use the relevant Brightspace Discussion Forum to reach out to classmates. Also, I will accept "groups" of 1 if you are a lone wolf and like to go solo. Just email me and let me know that as well.

Please, email your groups by September 18th at the latest.

Late work policy: The assignment deadlines are at least one week after the completion of related course material (sometimes more) and as such, should be sufficient. Yet, sometimes, despite our best efforts, and for good reasons, we can't meet our deadlines. You have two days of grace that you can apply to missed assignment deadlines. For example, a single assignment may be two days late or two assignments may each be one day late with no penalty. No reason required. No questions asked. That said, I need an email before the deadline indicating you will be late, but plan on submitting. It's important to me to post the solution as soon as possible for the other students, as this is a best practice for learning. I don't want all students waiting for the solution as a result of submissions that aren't coming. Once your two days have been used, no further lateness will be accepted and any late submissions at that stage will receive 0.

Midterm and Final Exam

The midterm and final exam will test both the technical and conceptual aspects of the course.

The midterm will be two hours and will be held on Friday, November 1st at 6:00pm. The mid-term will cover Chapters 1 – 5 and Chapter 14. It is a closed-book exam. More details on the midterm will be given as we move towards its date.

The only valid excuse for missing the mid-term is for medical reasons or death in the family and must be documented with a medical certificate. Any other reason (such as travel, etc...) will not be considered. In such circumstances the make-up mid-term will be held on Monday, November 11th, from 06:00 – 08:00am. If you miss the make-up midterm for any reason, your grade on the mid-term will be zero, i.e. there will be no make-up-make up mid-term and it is not possible to transfer the weighting to the final exam.

The final examination will be held in the regular examination period. The duration of the exam will be 3 hours. The final examination will cover the whole course. You need to obtain a minimum of 45% on the final exam to pass this course. Again, this exam will be closed book and cumulative in nature.

Technology requirements (unless writing on paper)

The minimum computing requirements for e-proctoring service are as follows:

- Hardware: Laptop
- OS: Windows 10, Mac OS 10.14, Linux Ubuntu 18.04
- Internet Browser: Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Apple Safari, or Microsoft Edge

Note: Chromebooks, tablets (Android, iOS, Windows), and smartphones are not supported by CoMaS at this time. You must complete your exams using Windowsbased or MacOS computers.

Marking

The assignments and exams will be marked by the teaching assistants and myself together and follow a rigorous quality control process that reasonably assures that the grade awarded is fair. However, no system is 100% error free, so it is possible that you may wish to call into question a grade that has been awarded to you.

For each assignment, and the midterm exam, you will be provided with a marking rubric in electronic format (Excel). It will contain the correct solution and highlight where you lost marks.

If you feel that there is an error in your grading, please write a brief note describing the difficulty with the awarded grade and provide this note, together with the graded test/assignment and a copy of the rubric you received, to the instructor no later than seven calendar days following the date the assignments/tests were handed back. Please be sure to include your name and student number on the note to enable us to properly identify it.

Brightspace

Brightspace is an integral part of the course. Much course related material and information will be found here. As well, this will be the key point of communication between you and me. Please check it regularly.

Student's Responsibilities with regards to deadlines & late assignment policy

It is your responsibility to ensure that you meet (1) the quiz dates, (2) the assignment deadlines, (3) the mid-term date and time, and (4) the final exam date and time. It's as easy as entering these in your calendar on your smart phone or paper agenda. You are allowed to miss 2 quizzes and you have your 2 flex days for assignments. These are the only accommodations I will give in terms of deadlines.

When you register for this course, you are doing so on the assumption that you are fully available during the final exam period that runs from December 9-21, and are available to write the mid-term Friday, November 1st at 6:00pm. I will not accommodate any requests to write the mid-term or final exam early or late.

Conduct

Professional conduct is built upon the idea of mutual respect. Such conduct includes (but is not limited to):

1) Attendance & Punctuality

Doing well in the course is highly correlated to your attendance. I will do my best to make the on-line sessions of value to you, and in turn, I expect you to bring your energy and good attitude with you to each and every class. If circumstances prevent attendance, please remember that you are responsible for all materials discussed, problems covered, and announcements made.

2) Other Disruptions

This is a very broad category, and includes leaving and re-entering the session (although I understand that there are times that this is a necessity). Side conversations are discouraged, however, talking to the class as a whole, is encouraged. Texting, other cell phone use, internet surfing or completing other classwork while in class is a poor use of your time. Unfortunately, humans are not as good at multitasking as we would like to believe.

3) Being Prepared

You should be ready to discuss any assigned readings and to answer any assigned questions for each day's class. Please refer to the course schedule below, as well as any in-class announcements to know what is expected from you at each class.

Course Schedule (note: this is a planned schedule only; deviations may occur)
The Weekly Memo: For each week of the course I will post the "Weekly Memo". It will list the videos to watch, the problems to try on your own, and the problems I will be covering in our Monday/Tuesday session together. This course moves fast and each week builds on the previous weeks' materials. In order to have success, you must come to class or watch the videos, prepared to work, and work along with me while we are going through the material. There simply is no other way. For most of you, the material we will be covering will be brand new, and the concepts are probably not ones you have considered. Therefore, do not think that you can "teach yourself" by cramming before the midterm or final. There is simply too much to get through.

Keep up with the work in the Weekly Memos. Come to class regularly, keep up with assignments and homework and you will find success.

Group assignments are also good for learning integrative skills for putting together a complex task. Your professor may assign one or more group tasks/assignments/projects in this course. Before embarking on a specific problem as a group, it is your responsibility to ensure that the problem is meant to be a group assignment and not an individual one.

Process: If an alleged violation occurs, all relevant documentation will be forwarded to the Dean. If the allegation proves true, the penalties may include; a grade of Failure on the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. For a first offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally be a zero on the submitted work and at least a minimum full grade reduction of the final course grade. For a second offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally lead to a suspension from studies.

Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy which is available, along with resources for compliance at: https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/.
