Calendar Description:

Derivative instruments and their use for speculation and hedging. Analysis of different markets where instruments trade, and their characteristics. Pricing models highlighted to determine how individuals and corporations can better manage risk; exotics and newer innovations.

Course Description and Objectives:

This is an introductory course on derivative securities. The course will focus on options, forward and futures contracts, and swaps. We will look at how derivatives can be used for hedging risk. We will study the organization of derivatives markets, relevant trading strategies and the pricing models applicable to these securities.

Reading (s)/Textbook (s):

John Hull, Options, Futures, and Other Derivatives, 9th ed., Prentice Hall, 2014.

Grading Scheme:

Mid-term exam	40%
Final exam	60%
Total	100%

Expectations:

The course will require you to both understand the economic intuition of financial concepts and to perform mathematical calculations.

(1) Reading – You are expected to have covered the readings before class. After class, you should re-read the chapter to gain a complete understanding of the material.

(2) Sample Problems – Finance cannot be learned without solving problems. To ensure that you understand the material, sample problems will be given. These problems will NOT be graded. However, it is strongly recommended that you try solving the assigned problems as they will help you in preparation for quizzes and exams. Group work on the sample problems is encouraged. It is recommended that you attempt problems before looking at the solution as this will provide a better picture of the degree of difficulty of the problems and your ability to think your way through them.

Mid-term test and final exam

The mid-term test and the final exam will cover both the theory and application of topics covered in classes and the readings. The mid-term test and final examination are closed-book and closed-notes. Students are allowed to bring in a TI BAII plus calculator only. The final exam will be comprehensive. Both midterm and final will consist of multiple choice questions. The date for the final exam will be posted by the University later in the semester.

Mid-term attendance

If a student is unable to sit for the mid-term test due to reason that meets the university's rules for missing a test without penalty, the mark allocation to the mid-term will be allocated to the final exam. If a student is unable to sit for the final exam, the student may apply to the Registrar's Office to write a deferred examination. Deferral final examination will only be granted to students showing satisfactory in-term performance (as described below). Please also see Sections 2.4, 2.5 and 2.6 of the Undergraduate Calendar. It should be noted that deferred examinations are not granted to students who make travel plans that conflict with the examination period.

Satisfactory In-term Performance

1. The criterion and the standard for Satisfactory In-term Performance are as follows: 50% of total pre-final exam work (cumulative) marks. This includes total marks for the midterm exam.

2. Unsatisfactory In-term Performance in this course will lead to

Failure in this course (regardless of the performance at the Final exam or final project)
FND grade in this course (in case of missed Final exam)

Requests for Academic Accommodations

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

- The deadlines for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for final exams for the December 2015 exam period is November 6, 2015 and for the April 2016 exam period is March 6, 2016.

For Religious Obligations:

Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligation should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory event.

Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student.

Students or instructors who have questions or want to confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice may refer to the Equity Services website for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies, or may contact an Equity Services Advisor in the Equity Services Department for assistance.

For Pregnancy:

Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the passing off of someone else's work as your own and is a serious academic offence. For the details of what constitutes plagiarism, the potential penalties and the procedures refer to the section on Instructional Offences in the Undergraduate Calendar.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?

A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including: expulsion; suspension from all studies at Carleton; suspension from full-time studies; and/or a reprimand; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; academic probation; award of an FNS, Fail, or an ABS.

What are the Procedures?

All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and/or departmental chairs.

The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism.

The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.

Plagiarism and cheating at the graduate level are viewed as being particularly serious and the sanctions imposed are accordingly severe. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy (See <http://www2.carleton.ca/sasc/advisingcentre/academic-integrity/>). The Policy is strictly enforced and is binding on all students. Plagiarism and cheating – presenting another’s ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the graduate degree. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Students who infringe the Policy may be subject to one of several penalties including: expulsion; suspension from all studies at Carleton; suspension from full-time studies; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; academic probation; or a grade of Failure in the course.
