Also offered at the graduate level, with different requirements, as MGMT5129, for which additional credit is precluded.

Lecture three hours a week.

Course Description:

Management of the arts is one of the fastest-growing fields today. It also belongs among the most fascinating, rewarding, complex, exciting and challenging fields. The need for skilled and knowledgeable arts managers has never been greater. This course will deal with the special skills required to manage an arts organization today and in the future. It will reinforce the need for exceptional business skills and then explore the vast array of additional areas required to successfully manage arts organizations.

Skilled and dynamic cultural leaders and arts administrators, already something of a rarity, will be in enormous demand in the coming years. With a rapid expansion of the arts, we will need those people who are guiding our artistic institutions to be trained at the highest possible level to be adaptable, versatile and creative in order to deal with the quickly-changing and volatile arts and cultural landscape.

This course deals with both practical and theoretical approaches to the vitally important challenges of developing and managing a successful, healthy and sustainable cultural organization.

Managing the Arts will focus on creating and enhancing the strategic and analytical thinking required for success in fundraising, sponsorship, outreach, promotion, awareness and attendance. As well, attention will be given to advocacy, and augmenting the involvement of the private and public sectors.

Six distinguished guest speakers, all leaders in the arts in Canada with strong arts and business expertise, will join the class for short virtual presentations and discussions at different points.

Drop Course Policy

The deadline for academic withdrawal follows the dates prescribed by Carleton University: https://calendar.carleton.ca/academicyear/

- 4. Participants will gain an understanding of all of the internal and external challenges of the arts environment; organizational structures (including those legally required); best practices in governance including recruitment; strategic analysis and risk management; financial management from an arts perspective; human resource management (from both a staffing and a volunteer perspective); the many approaches to media and marketing; development and fundraising (including donations, private foundations, special events, sponsorship, advertising and government grants); arts leadership; understanding the Canadian arts environment and its differences with the United States and Europe; and building links with the community. As well as preparing participants for the management of non-governmental organizations, government agencies, government arts presenters, arts venues and cultural museums, arts umbrella agencies and arts networks, this course will provide insight to those who wish to bring a greater understanding of the arts and the inherent benefits of the arts to a career in the private sector.

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Process: If an alleged violation occurs, all relevant documentation will be forwarded to the Dean. If the allegation proves true, the penalties may include; a grade of Failure on the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. For a first offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally be a zero on the submitted work and at least a minimum full grade reduction of the final course grade. For a second offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally lead to a suspension from studies.
