Required Course Materials:

Textbook: An Introduction to Management Accounting, 2nd Edition, Maurice, 2019

The textbook will be posted on Brightspace in a PDF format. If you prefer a hard copy of the textbook it can be purchases at Haven Books – 43 Seneca St (corner of Sunnyside and Seneca)

Software: Excel, recent version

Course Format:

There are 3 main elements to this course: class time, tutorial time, and Brightspace. The main course time slot is on Friday mornings from 9:35-11:25am. You will be assigned a one-hour time slot during this 2-hour block. Brightspace contains all the material and resources you need for the course. It is expected that you are very active on Brightspace as well as attending all tutorials and class times.

Each week you will have videos to watch, textbook chapters to read, and practice questions to work on. All these elements are expected that you work independently or with a peer. All tutorial sections have been scheduled on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. It is expected that you get through the weekly work BEFORE your tutorial section. You will get the most out of these tutorials if you have engaged with the course material beforehand. After your tutorial it is expected that you review the material and work on additional practice problems to solidify your learning for the week.

Teaching Method for the Tutorials:

Tutorials start the week of September 11 (the first full week of classes). You are expected to come to your tutorial sessions prepared and ready to engage and not just watch a TA show you how to do questions. Your tutorial groups should be viewed as your mini cohort for this course. These groups will be 35 students or less and therefore a great size to get to know one another and help support and encourage one another in the course. More details regarding the format of these session will be posted on Brightspace. Each tutorial group will be assigned a TA who you can view as your personal coach and main go to person for questions and help in the course. Of course, the course instructor is also available for supporting all elements of the course, but you will also have your own personal TA to help guide you through the course! We are all here to help you and therefore it is expected that if you are struggling with the material that you let me know, or your TA know so that we can help get you back on track for the course!

Methods of Evaluation:

Tutorials*	10%
Class attendance, participation and course engagement	10%
Midterm - in person & e-proctored – Saturday Nov 4 th , time TBD (Ch 1-5)	35%
Final examination (3 hours) – in person & e-proctored – during the final exam period.	45%
	100%

^{*}You will get 1% for each tutorial class you attend and participate, up to a maximum of 10%. Details regarding expectations in order to achieve this full 10% will be posted on Brightspace and discussed in class.

The midterm exam will be held on Saturday November 4th with the time TBD and will be in person. The midterm will cover chapters 1-5. Students who know in advance of a conflict with the midterm and provide appropriate documentation will have one opportunity to write an alternate exam. Except for advanced accommodation, the only valid excuse for missing the exam is for medical reasons or death in the family and must be documented with a medical certificate/obituary. You can scan the medical note or take a picture and e-mail it to me. In order to be eligible to write a deferred midterm exam, you must provide me with the medical note by end of day on Monday November 6th.

The deferred exam is tentatively scheduled for 6:30am-8:30am on Friday, November 10th, 2023. Students without a valid excuse for missing the midterm exam will receive a grade of 0.

The final examination will be held in the regular examination period (Dec 10 - 22). The duration of the exam will be 3 hours. The final examination will cover the whole course. You need to obtain a minimum grade of 40% on the final exam to pass this course.

The midterm and final exam will be marked by the teaching assistants and instructor. We follow a rigorous quality control process that reasonably assures that the grade awarded on your exams are fair. However, no system is 100% error-free, so it is possible that you may wish to call into question a grade that has been awarded. If this happens, contact the TA and we will look into it.

^{}Details regarding this 10% of your grade will be posted on Brightspace and discussed during the first class.

Note that both the midterm and final exams will be in person and e-proctoring will be used for both.

e-Proctoring: Please note that tests and examinations in this course will use a remote proctoring service provided by Scheduling and Examination Services. You can find more information at https://carleton.ca/ses/e-proctoring/.

The minimum computing requirements for this service are as follows:

Hardware: Desktop, or Laptop OS: Windows 10, Mac OS 10.14

Internet Browser: Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Apple Safari, or Microsoft Edge

Internet Connection (High-Speed Internet Connection Recommended)

Webcam (HD resolution recommended)

Note: Tablets, Chromebooks and Smartphones are not supported at this time. Windows-based tablets are not supported at this time.

Student's Responsibilities with regards to deadlines:

It is your responsibility to ensure that you meet all the deadlines for assignments and exams. It's as easy as entering these in your calendar on your smart phone or paper agenda.

When you register for this course, you are doing so on the assumption that you are fully available during the final exam period that runs from December $10^{th} - 22^{nd}$. I will not accommodate any requests to write any exam early or late.

How to do well in this course:

WATCH ALL VIDEOS, AND PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE...

To perform well in this course, you must spend time answering extra problems and checking the answers to test your understanding. To maximize your learning, you should make an honest attempt at the question before peeking at the solution. Simply reading a question and then turning to the solution right away is next to useless. You will find that there is likely to be a direct correlation between the number of problems you work on and your course grade. As well as watching videos, reading your textbook and practicing questions, you need to make sure you are attending and engaging in your tutorial section and the Friday class time.

Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are a serious academic offence. Violations of academic integrity – presenting another's ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the degree and will not be tolerated.

Process: If an alleged violation occurs, all relevant documentation will be forwarded to the Dean. If the allegation proves true, the penalties may include; a grade of Failure on the submitted work and/or course; academic probation; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; suspension from full-time studies; suspension from all studies at Carleton; expulsion from Carleton, amongst others. For a first offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally be a zero on the submitted work and at least a minimum full grade reduction of the final course grade. For a second offence, at a minimum, the penalty assigned will normally lead to a suspension from studies.

Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy which is available, along with resources for compliance at: https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/.
